

In accordance with 35 USC § 287(a), Cassiopea SpA provides United States Patent information concerning its products on this website. Cassiopea SpA has also provided information on this website concerning European patents that cover certain products. Each listed product is patented under, made under, or used under one or more of the patents listed with the associated product name. The patent information displayed on this website is believed to be accurate as of the most recent update of the page but should not be considered exhaustive. The omission of a patent from a product's entry on this website is not a representation or admission by Cassiopea SpA that the patent does not cover the product, nor does the absence of any listing on this website for a specific product constitute a representation or admission by Cassiopea SpA that the product is unpatented. Cassiopea SpA has attempted to keep the information on this website reasonably current, but certain patents listed on this website may have expired since the page was last updated.
